The Ant and the Dove

One hot day, a little ant was crawling along a riverbank. “How nice and cool the water looks,” the ant thought to himself. “I think I’ll take a drink.” The Thirsty ant crawled down to the edge of the river. As he began to drink, his feet slipped on a wet rock and he fell in. The water began to sweep him away. “Oh, somebody please help me,” the little ant cried out, “or I will surely drown!” A dove, which was perched on a branch overhanging the river, saw that the ant was in danger. “I can help him,” she thought. “If I drop a leaf near the ant, he can climb onto it. It will be like a little boat.” So the dove dropped a leaf close to the ant called out what to do. The ant climbed onto the leaf and soon floated safely to the riverbank. “Thank you, kind dove,” said the little ant. “You have saved my life. I hope I can help you one day.

“A few days later, a hunter came by looking for birds to catch. He saw the dove resting on a branch and began to get ready his net. However, the little ant had seen what the hunter was up to. He raced up to the hunter and bit on the leg. The hunter yelled in pain. The dove heard the noise and flew away to safety. The hunter picked up his net and walked on. “Thank you, little ant,” cooed the dove. “You did help me after all.”
